What does this tournament mean to you compared with last years tournament ?

It means a lot, here is where I won my first title here ,and its funny because I lost my last match here... and I saw his match today and he is playing good , but not as I expected he would, its good for me , but he didnt play as well as I expected .

Los Cabos is a place I love to play and this time of the year it is very hot so you have to embrace that , but everybody is enjoying this week, the staff , the media , the players, the people working here, the sponsors , everybody is enjoying themselves .

It is a very nice way to celebrate tennis . This tournament has been 10 years and for me it's my seventh and I've been here for most of it so, its a cool tournament and its very nice to come back.

No one has won this tournament twice , so after this week do you think you have what it takes and become the first one ?

For sure I have what it takes, but I still have a long way to go , I still have four matches to win , I think and I won today , so its good for the confidence , I was pretty uncomfortable out there today, so there is still much to take in, the conditions here are very tricky, it wasn't easy to control the ball out there and it's probably not good for my game , but I take that, such a great place to play and that, but I still have a long way to go.
